

Energy and resources

Having acted for many key stakeholders in the oil and gas, mining and utilities sectors, Cooper Grace Ward understands the specific issues and challenges faced by the energy and resources industry.

Through our experience working both as advisers and in-house lawyers with energy and resources companies, our team has in-depth knowledge of the key business drivers and inputs required from the initial stages of oil, gas and mining exploration through to project approval, development and operation. We also understand the important aspects of marketing, sales and export.

Cooper Grace Ward provides legal advice and solutions to mining, oil and gas companies, asset owners and operators, investors, service providers, contractors, financiers, government, and wholesalers and retailers of petroleum and renewable fuels. We also work with a range of clients in the electricity and renewables sectors.

Our lawyers' expertise in this area includes advising on day-to-day legal requirements for energy and resources participants, including corporate governance and compliance, risk management, litigation and regulatory issues, supply agreements, intellectual property, taxation, property leases, workplace relations, safety and other operational matters. We also have depth of experience advising on corporate transactions in the sector, including M&A, joint ventures and financings.

As a Brisbane based commercial law firm, we are dedicated to supporting resources clients and their operations across Queensland and throughout Australia. Cooper Grace Ward has very strong regional networks and a proven track record of partnering with businesses in regional Queensland to provide practical and commercial legal solutions, advice and training.

Our energy and resources expertise
