

Litigation and dispute resolution

Our expert litigators have a strong track record in court matters and a demonstrated ability to conduct complex disputes with relevant stakeholders to secure successful outcomes at trial and on appeal.

Our litigators are known for their strategic, commercial and practical approach. We build relationships with clients to run cases in a way that suits their situation and resources.

We represent a wide range of clients in litigation and disputes, including listed companies, private companies and individuals, governments and regulatory authorities.

We have represented clients in high-profile, hard-fought, and complex commercial litigation cases, as well as helped many commercial clients resolve contentious situations that arise from day-to-day business operations.

Our litigators have the significant advantage of being part of a large commercial law firm, which means they are able to draw on the specialist expertise of many other market leading practice teams.
